

It may be good Comp.by Adelina Filli

1) it could be, that the ships and freighters soon be idle in the ports....

it could also be, that the fish, dolphins, and other sea creatures can finally get their natural habitat back

- Dolphins are spotted in ports, the fish swim in the channels again

2) It could be, that people feel locked in by the restrictions

it could also be, that they finally sing again, help each other, greet each other on the street because they look again and experience a feeling of community

- People sing together, the windows are open!

3) it could be, that the current limitations in life deprive of freedom in many ways.

it could also be, that the earth breathes deeply, the sky gains strength in color and people take time to perceive nature again

- look at the sky, listen to the birds!

4) it could be, that closing shops and schools be a very big challenge it could also be, that we discover hidden talents and unimagined opportunities to be creative.

-We have time to perceive everything on a new level

5) it could be, that the economy be badly damaged

it could also be, that we finally realize what really matters in human life and that constant economic growth be an absurd idea in our society.

- It's time to feel what we really need!

6) it could be, that all this scares you in some way

it could also be, that you may feel that this crisis is an opportunity for a change that is long overdue!

- that allows the earth to breathe freely

- shows people true values

- reduces all kinds of wastes

and the earth shows us how quickly it forgives when we humans are mindful and considerate so that all life breaths!

we're being woken up because we really didn't do anything!

it is the chance for a new coexistence

so please allow it!

it may be good

may it be good for the future,

of human beings

hmmm
